

Sun, Surf, Sea and pizza.....fancy it?

Based in St Ives, Falmouth or Newquay

Hourly Pay – up to £6.40 per hour

Working through the summer in Cornwall is as hard as it is rewarding....

PizzaExpress may be in a position to make this happen for you in order that you get the most of the sun but with the flexibility of knowing that you could be earning some extra money during the holiday season.

At our PizzaExpress locations in St Ives, Falmouth and Newquay we are working in advance to ensure that we have a bank of trained team members to work both as waiting team and Pizzaiolo's when our holiday location restaurants are at their busiest, so during the school half terms and summer holidays.

It may be that you are currently at University in one of the locations or even teaching with a desire to stay either on campus or working during the holiday season. Or, it may be that you are just looking for a role that you can fit in with your lifestyle...

For both our waiting and kitchen teams we are looking for flexible individuals who can demonstrate great customer service and for the kitchen a passion for making the best pizza. Full training will be provided although experience in either waiting or working in a kitchen would be highly desirable.

Our customers are at the heart of everything we do, along with serving them the very best quality pizza, so it is paramount that you possess great communications skills which include a good command of English, are passionate about given a great experience and are flexible in terms of the hours that you can work...

The idea behind our temporary bank is that we will give you all of the support and training you require in order that across the season we can call on you to come and work in one of our holiday location restaurants.

You will need to live or be staying near one of the restaurant locations and be flexible as to when you work as we will need people not only during the day but for our evening shifts.

So what do you get in return? The opportunity to develop your skills, work in a great environment where flexibility is a given and there are great experienced teams to not only support you but who also know the meaning of fun!

By the way, we also have some permanent "out of term" contracts available too.

What are you waiting for? Apply now – work in the sun!
